2. MANAGING DIRECTOR AND FOUNDER'S STATEMENT

It is a pleasure to announce Shri Krishana Overseas PLC's (SKL) intention to list by way of introduction on the Nairobi Securities Exchange (NSE). This listing is an important milestone for us, and we view it as a means to achieve our ambitious goal.

Nirmla Devi and I established SKL in 2009 as a trading company dealing in rice, spices, and other food commodities. SKL has since transitioned into manufacturing and operates a facility based in Nairobi's Industrial Area with an annual capacity of 3,000 tonnes of packaging materials.

SKL is targeting to increase capacity to 22,000 tonnes of packaging materials through a new plant to be set up in Kisaju, Kajiado County in the third quarter of 2025. The additional capacity is to meet the growing and sustained demand for packaging solutions from horticulture exports including avocados, herbs, mangoes, and vegetables. There is a similar demand for packaging solutions from the floriculture subsector. We also see increased demand in the FMCG sector as more companies establish manufacturing bases in Kenya and East Africa.

We firmly believe that listing by way of introduction on the NSE is the best way for SKL to realize its full potential. Upon listing on the NSE 8.7 million ordinary shares of KES 0.20 each shall be made available to the public at a price of KES 5.90 per share.

The support of Kenyan investors will be instrumental in helping us achieve our ambitious goals. We are also happy to share the opportunity to build this vision together with all those who buy into it and we trust that we shall achieve shared prosperity.

The Kenyan economy has faced challenges in recent times. Last year, the Kenyan Shilling reached a high of nearly 160 to the US Dollar. Interest rates surged with the 91-day Treasury bill hitting a high of 17%. The cost of living and doing business also significantly increased, resulting in social unrest. However, inflation rates have eased to a four-year low of 3.5%, and interest rates have also seen a downward trend, providing some relief to the economy.

These improvements will positively impact both the overall economy and the businesses operating in the sectors where SKL is active.

The journey to the NSE would not have been possible without our hardworking employees, loyal customers, supportive suppliers, and sincere friends. We wish to thank all of them for making this possible.

Finally, SKL is proactive towards providing environmentally friendly packaging solutions that embrace recyclable, reusable, and sustainably sourced raw materials.

Yours sincerely,

Managing Director and Founder, Shri Krishana Overseas PLC.

5. ECONOMIC REVIEW

5.2. Description of General Economy

5.2.1. Kenyan Economy in General

Kenya experienced growth in 2024. According to the Kenya National Bureau of Statistics, Kenya's economy grew at the rate of 4.7% in real terms.

The growth was noted in most of the sectors of the economy with Agriculture, Forestry and Fishing growing by 4.6% compared to 6.6% growth in 2023. Other sectors also had notable growth including Financial & Insurance Activities (7.6%), Transportation and Storage (4.4%) and Real Estate (5.3%).

The Construction sector, however, recorded a contraction of 0.7% down from a growth of 3.0% in 2023. Similarly, mining and quarrying recorded a contraction of 9.2% compared to a 2023 contraction of 6.5% as evidenced in the reduced production of key minerals, including construction materials, titanium, salt (crude), and gemstones.

Employment in the modern and informal sectors, excluding small-scale agriculture, went up from 20.0 million in 2023 to 20.8 million in 2024. A total of 782.3 thousand new jobs were created in the economy in 2024. The modern sector created a total of 78.6 thousand jobs in 2024, reflecting a growth of 2.4%. The informal sector created 703.7 thousand new jobs compared to 720.9 thousand in 2023, accounting for 90.0% of all new jobs created, excluding small-scale agriculture.

5.2.2. Fiscal Policy

Fiscal policy remained expansionary with signs that expansionary policy will continue into the near future. Historical government spending and taxation is captured below:

YEAR	2020/21	2021/22	2022/23	2023/24	2024/25
Total Revenue (inclusive of grants)	1,933,568	2,230,839	2,323,232	2,724,699	3,115,531
Total Spending	2,727,036	2,926,819	3,511,777	3,441,484	3,832,323
Deficit	(793,469)	(695,980)	(1,188,546)	(716,785)	(716,791)
Recurrent Deficit	(361,112)	(307,467)	(418,813)	(401,723)	11,018

5.2.3. Monetary Policy

Most of 2025, monetary policy was generally tight as seen in the chart below. This was because of high inflation rates and rapid depreciation observed towards the end of 2023 and early 2024. However, CBK has started loosening monetary policy as seen in the reversing of trends in monetary policy.

5.2.4. Inflation Rates

Inflation is not a strong concern as the Central Bank has been keeping monetary policy tight as seen above. However, it is ticking up to demonstrate effects of loosening of monetary policy. See inflation rates below.

5.2.5. Interest rates

Loosening of monetary policy has coincided with lower rates. Please see the chart below:

5.2.6. Review

Economic fundamentals remain stable and suitable for investment and growth. However, downside economic risks still exist largely from fiscal policy.

6. INDUSTRY ANALYSIS

6.1. Introduction: Importance of the Packaging Industry

All businesses that deal in goods require packaging and printing. The Packaging and Printing sector is required for:

- 6.1.1. Easy movement of the products;
- 6.1.2. Security of the products;
- 6.1.3. Preservation of the products;
- 6.1.4. Branding and marketing products;
- 6.1.5. Informing users of the products; and
- 6.1.6. Protecting the environment.

6.2. Understanding Kenya's Packaging Market Landscape

The Kenyan packaging industry has experienced a steady climb in valuation, with estimates placing its worth at approximately $585 million as of September 2021. The packaging industry incorporates diverse sectors, including agriculture, forestry, and fisheries, which contribute significantly to the national economy. Specifically, the manufacturing sector—a pillar of Kenya's industrial framework—adds roughly 11% to the Gross Domestic Product (GDP), with packaging operations carving out about 2% of this figure.

As Kenya's population grows and urban centers expand, the demand for consumer goods has surged, particularly for Fast-Moving Consumer Goods (FMCG). This surge has catalyzed advancements in the "kadogo" economy—small, affordable packaging tailored to meet the daily needs of the average Kenyan consumer. In response to environmental concerns, Kenya banned single-use plastic bags in 2017, catalyzing innovation in packaging solutions that comply with regulations while serving market demands.

Key trends shaping the packaging sector in Kenya include stringent restrictions on single-use plastics and a national recycling target of 30% by 2030. The introduction of Extended Producer Responsibility (EPR) regulations and initiatives like the Kenya Plastics Pact (KPP) spearhead the transition towards a circular economy for plastics. Moreover, the Institute of Packaging Professionals Kenya (IOPPK)—affiliated with the World Packaging Organization (WPO) and African Packaging Organization—plays an essential role in education and skill development.

For businesses looking to penetrate the Kenyan packaging market, thorough market research, compliance with local laws, sustainable offerings, and building local partnerships with distributors and retailers are pivotal steps. Knowing these facets of Kenya's packaging market landscape is crucial for any company aiming to make an informed and successful entry into this industry.

6.3. The Growth of Packaging Companies in Kenya

The packaging industry in Kenya is on an upward trajectory, driven by the entry and expansion of numerous packaging companies. Local enterprises have set a precedent for delivering a wide range of quality packaging solutions. Local product offerings include corrugated cartons, regular slotted cartons, and specialized packaging for floriculture and horticulture, demonstrating diversity and adaptability to different market needs.

Assessment of Kenya's Packaging Sector Dynamics

Opportunities	Challenges
Growing demand for horticulture and floriculture exports	High input costs of raw materials and energy
Expansion of FMCGs	Infrastructure gap
Government incentives for manufacturing	High credit costs
Increased FDI	Limited access to modern technology
Innovation in sustainable packaging

6.4. Challenges Facing the Packaging Sector in Kenya

While the packaging sector in Kenya thrives with opportunity, it also grapples with a myriad of challenges that require innovative and strategic solutions. One of the key hurdles is the high cost of raw materials, which can affect the competitiveness of local packaging products in the market. This is often compounded by the import dependency for certain materials, making the industry vulnerable to global market fluctuations.

Another significant challenge is the management of waste, particularly plastic waste. Despite the national push for recycling and the advent of a circular economy, Kenya still faces a low recycling rate of only 8%. With a daily plastic consumption rate per person amounting to 0.03 kg, and a minimal fraction being recycled, the sector must prioritize establishing effective waste management systems.

The influx of non-compliant and substandard products in the market further complicates the scenario for legitimate businesses. These products not only pose a threat to the environment but also undermine the market share of conforming producers, potentially jeopardizing the integrity of the industry and consumer trust.

The infrastructure that supports the transportation and distribution of packaging materials and finished products is also in need of enhancement. The logistical challenges presented by inadequate transportation networks can lead to increased costs and inefficiencies, hampering the sector's overall productivity and reach.

In addition, the evolving landscape requires continual alignment with global and local regulatory standards. Staying abreast of changing laws and policies is essential but can be a daunting task, especially for smaller enterprises that might not have the resources to navigate complex regulatory environments as effectively as larger corporations.

Addressing these challenges is crucial for the sustained growth and development of Kenya's packaging industry. It necessitates a concerted effort from both the public and private sectors to create an enabling environment that fosters innovation, compliance, and environmental stewardship.

6.5. Innovations and Sustainable Practices in Kenyan Packaging

Kenya's packaging industry is witnessing an increased innovation and sustainable practices that will make it resilient. Key to this is the adoption of green packaging solutions. These eco-friendly alternatives are designed to minimize environmental impact and are rapidly gaining favor among businesses and consumers.

Companies are increasingly exploring biodegradable and compostable materials as viable packaging options. By leveraging advancements in material science, they can offer products that, after their useful life, can break down naturally, thus contributing to reduced landfill waste.

Technological advancements are bolstering the industry's ability to develop packaging with enhanced functionality. Examples include smart packaging that incorporates QR codes, enabling traceability and interactivity, and modified atmosphere packaging that extends the shelf life of food products, tackling the issue of food waste head-on.

Furthermore, there is an ongoing effort to reduce packaging waste through design. The focus is on creating packaging that uses fewer materials without compromising product protection. This design-centric approach leads to cost savings and aligns with the principles of the circular economy.

Efficient recycling programs are also pivotal to sustainable packaging. With concerted efforts from the government and the private sector, there is momentum to improve recycling rates and develop closed-loop systems where packaging can be continuously reprocessed and reused.

Embracing these innovations and sustainable practices is an environmental imperative and a strategic business move. It enhances the reputation of companies, appeals to environmentally conscious consumers, and aligns with global sustainability trends, ensuring the Kenyan packaging industry remains competitive and relevant internationally.

6.6. The Impact of Regulations on Kenya's Packaging Industry

The Kenyan government has been proactive in implementing regulations to steer the packaging industry towards greater ecological responsibility. The ban on single-use plastic bags is a case in point, showcasing a decisive move towards combating pollution. As a consequence, businesses have pivoted to developing and marketing alternative packaging materials, triggering a wave of innovation across the industry.

With the introduction of Extended Producer Responsibility (EPR) frameworks, companies are encouraged to take greater accountability for the lifecycle of their products, including post-consumer waste. EPR regulations emphasize the importance of packaging being designed for recyclability, and they incentivize the reduction of environmental footprints.

The national recycling target aspires to significantly improve current recycling rates by 2030, presenting a challenge and an opportunity for the packaging sector to revamp its practices. It compels the entire supply chain to collaborate more closely on sustainable waste management strategies and invest in recycling infrastructure.

The Kenya Plastic Pact (KPP) further exemplifies the commitment to transforming the industry; a multi-stakeholder initiative that brings together key players to work towards common goals for reducing plastic waste and enhancing the circularity of packaging materials.

While navigating these regulations requires a concerted effort, it stimulates progress and places Kenya at the forefront of sustainable packaging. Adherence to these rules is not just about compliance, but about participating in a broader movement towards environmental stewardship, driving innovation, and securing a competitive edge in the global marketplace.

6.7. The Role of Technology in Advancing Kenya's Packaging Solutions

Technology has become a pivotal force in transforming Kenya's packaging industry, catalyzing efficiency and innovation. The integration of cutting-edge machinery has optimized production lines, ensuring that high standards of quality are maintained while also increasing the volume and speed of packaging manufacturing. This technological advancement is essential for companies to remain competitive on both the local and global stage.

Another technological area that has seen significant uptake within the sector is digitization. From design to distribution, digitization enables companies to streamline operations, reduce errors, and respond quickly to market changes. Real-time data analysis and management systems are instrumental in predicting trends, managing inventories, and optimizing supply chain logistics.

Smart packaging is another frontier, leveraging technologies that enhance user engagement and improve product tracking. Solutions such as QR codes and RFID tags are becoming increasingly prevalent, offering customers additional information, authentication, and the ability to engage with brands through their packaging.

In the sustainability realm, technology facilitates the development of eco-friendly packaging alternatives. Research into new materials and processes is yielding products with a lower environmental impact. Technological innovations enable the scale-up of bio-based and recyclable materials to meet the growing demand for sustainable packaging solutions.

The role of technology in advancing Kenya's packaging solutions is integral and multi-faceted. It drives progress by enhancing efficiency, fostering sustainable practices, and forging deeper connections between brands and consumers through innovative packaging designs.

6.8. Navigating the Future: Trends Shaping Packaging in Kenya

As we look to the horizon of Kenya's packaging industry, several emerging trends are poised to influence its direction. A significant shift towards ecologically conscious packaging is gaining momentum, with companies investing more in research and development to produce materials that are easily recyclable, biodegradable, or compostable, aligning with global movements in environmental preservation.

Consumer behavior is also driving change, with a growing preference for convenience and personalization. Packaging solutions that offer ease of use, reseal ability and individualized experiences are expected to become more prevalent, satisfying the demand for products that fit seamlessly into busy lifestyles.

With a focus on food security and reducing waste, there is an increased interest in active and intelligent packaging. These technologies extend the shelf life of food products and provide information on product quality, ensuring that consumers receive safe and fresh products while reducing the amount of food that is discarded.

Another key trend is the rising use of digital printing technologies in packaging. This allows for more vibrant graphics, variable printing, and small-run customizations. Digital printing caters to the needs of niche markets and small businesses, enabling them to compete more effectively with larger entities.

The drive towards supply chain transparency is also noteworthy. With ethical sourcing and corporate responsibility in the spotlight, packaging that can verify the origin and journey of a product is becoming increasingly important to consumers who value trust and authenticity in their purchasing decisions.

These trends indicate a dynamic future for packaging in Kenya. Companies that are agile and responsive to these changes will be well-positioned to navigate the evolving landscape and capitalize on the growth opportunities it presents.

ACCOUNTING POLICIES

REPORTING ENTITY

Shri Krishana Overseas Limited (the Company) manufactures corrugated boxes. It is incorporated in Kenya under the Companies Act as a private limited liability company. The Company is domiciled in Kenya and the address of its registered office is:

Dev. House Rumi Road, South C
P.O Box 46826,
Nairobi

BASIS OF PREPARATION

The financial statements are prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS"). The measurement basis applied is the historical cost basis, except when stated otherwise, which have been measured at fair value.

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with IFRS requires the use of certain critical accounting estimates. It also requires the directors to exercise judgement in the process of applying the Company's accounting policies. The areas involving a higher degree of judgement or complexity, or where assumptions and estimates are significant to the financial statements, are disclosed under Critical accounting estimates and judgements.

GOING CONCERN

The Company recorded a profit of Ksh. 10,175,184 for the period ended 31 December 2024 (2023 Ksh. 4,237,899) and as of the same date, had retained earnings of Ksh. 9,690,187 (2023 Ksh. 19,865,371).

The Company had positive cash flows from operating activities of Ksh. 21,690,209 for the year ended 31 December 2024 (2023: positive operating cash flows of Ksh. 26,206,892).

Based on the above, the directors believe that the going concern basis of preparing the financial statements is appropriate.

FOREIGN CURRENCY TRANSLATIONFunctional and presentation currency

Items included in the financial statements are measured using the currency of the primary economic environment in which the entity operates (the "Functional currency"). The financial statements are presented in Kenya Shillings (which is the Company's Functional currency)

Transactions and balances

Foreign currency transactions are translated into the Functional currency using the exchange rates prevailing at the dates of the transactions or valuations where items are re-measured. Foreign exchange gains and losses resulting from the settlement of such transactions and from the translation at year-end exchange rates of monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are recognised in profit or loss.

Foreign exchange gains and losses that relate to borrowings and cash and cash equivalents are presented in profit or loss within 'finance income or cost'. All other foreign exchange gains and losses are presented in profit or loss within 'other income or expenses'.

REVENUE RECOGNITION

Revenue represents the fair value of the consideration received or the receivable for the sales of goods and services, and is stated net of Value-added tax (VAT), rebates and discounts.

Sales of goods are recognised in the period in which the company delivers products to the customer, the customer has accepted the products and the collectability of the related receivables are reasonably assured.

The Company applies the following five-step model as per IFRS 15 Revenue from contracts with customers, to determine when to recognise revenue and at what amount:

- Identify the contract with a customer,
- Identify the performance obligations in the contract,
- Determine the transaction price,
- Allocate the transaction price to the performance obligations in the contract, and
- Recognise revenue.

Revenue is measured based on the consideration specified in a contract with a customer and excludes amounts collected on behalf of third parties. The Company accounts for a contract with a customer only when there is evidence of an arrangement.

The Company accounts for a contract with a customer only when there is evidence of an arrangement and the Company can identify each party's rights regarding the goods and services to be transferred, the contract has commercial substance and collectability is reasonably assured.

SKL – Reporting accountant's report

The Company recognises revenue at a point in time specifically after the performance obligation of transfer of goods to the customer has been fulfilled.

PROPERTY AND EQUIPMENT

All categories of property and equipment are initially measured at cost and subsequently measured at historical cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses. Cost includes expenditure directly attributable to the acquisition of the assets. Computer software, including the operating system, that is an integral part of the related hardware is capitalised as part of the computer equipment.

Subsequent costs are included in the asset's carrying value only when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item will flow to the Company and the cost of the item can be measured reliably. Repairs and maintenance is charged to profit or loss in the year to which it relates.

Increases in the carrying amount arising on revaluation are credited to a revaluation surplus reserve in equity. Decreases that offset previous increases of the same asset are charged against the revaluation surplus; all other decreases are charged to the income statement. Each year the difference between depreciation charged based on the revalued carrying amount of the asset (the depreciation charged to the income statement) and depreciation based on the asset's original cost is transferred from the revaluation surplus to general reserves.

Depreciation is provided on property, plant and equipment so as to write off their cost or revalued amount over their useful lives using the reducing balance method. The annual rates used are as follows:

Assets class	Rate
Motor vehicles	25%
Plant and Machinery	10%
Computers and software	25%
Furniture, fittings and office equipment	10%

As no parts of items of property, plant and equipment have a cost that is significant in relation to the total cost of the item, the same rate of depreciation is applied to the whole item. The assets' residual values and useful lives are reviewed, and adjusted if appropriate, at each balance sheet date.

Gains and losses on disposal of property and equipment are determined by reference to their carrying amount and are taken into account in determining operating profit.

IMPAIRMENT OF NON-FINANCIAL ASSETS

Non-financial assets that are carried at amortised cost are reviewed at the end of each reporting period for any indication that an asset may be impaired. If any such indication exists, an impairment loss is recognised for the amount by which the asset's carrying amount exceeds its recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's fair value less costs to sell and value in use.

TRANSLATION OF FOREIGN CURRENCIES

Transactions in foreign currencies during the year are converted into Kenya Shillings (functional currency), at rates ruling at the transaction dates. Assets and liabilities at the balance sheet date which are expressed in foreign currencies are translated in Kenya Shillings at rates ruling at that date. The resulting differences from conversion and translation are dealt with in the income statement in the year in which they arise.

INVENTORIES

Inventories are valued by management at the lower of cost and net realisable value with due allowance for any obsolete and slow moving items. Cost is determined by First in First out (FIFO) method. Work in progress includes all the direct works and overhead expenditure in bringing the goods to their present state, but excludes interest expense. Net Realisable Value is the estimate of selling price in the ordinary course of business, less the costs of completion and selling expenses. Work in Progress represents the value of uninvoiced and partially complete orders considered, valued at cost price.

TAXATION

Current taxes

Current Taxes are provided on the basis of results for the year as shown in the financial statements, adjusted in accordance with tax legislation. Deferred Taxes are provided using the liability method for all temporary differences arising between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying value for financial reporting purposes.

Deferred Tax

Deferred Tax assets are recognised for all deductible temporary differences, carry forward of unused tax losses, and unused tax credits to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profits will be available against which the deductible temporary differences, unused tax losses and the unused tax credits can be utilised.

EMPLOYEE BENEFIT COSTS

The company contributes to a statutory defined contribution pension scheme, the National Social Security Fund (NSSF). Contributions are determined by the local statute and are currently limited to Ksh.200 per employee per month. The company's contribution to the scheme are charged to the income statement in the year to which they relate.

BORROWING COSTS

Borrowing costs, net of any temporary investment income on those borrowings, that are attributable to acquisition, construction or production of a qualifying asset are capitalised as part of the asset. The net borrowing cost capitalised is either the actual borrowing cost incurred on the amount borrowed specifically to

OPERATING LEASES

Leases of assets where a significant proportion of the risks and rewards of ownership are retained by the lessor are classified as operating leases. Payments made/received under operating leases are charged/credited to the income statement on a straight line basis over the lease period. Prepaid operating lease rentals are recognised as assets and are subsequently amortised over the lease period.

OFFSETTING

Financial assets and liabilities are offset and the net amount reported in the balance sheet only when there is a legally enforceable right to set off the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis, or realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

The company classifies its financial instruments into the following categories:

- I. Financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss: which comprise financial assets or financial liabilities designated by the company at fair value through profit or loss and which are managed and their performance evaluated on a fair value basis in accordance with the company's investment strategy.
- I. Held-to-maturity: which comprise non-derivative financial assets with fixed or determinable payments and fixed maturity that the company has a positive intention and ability to hold to maturity.
- II. Loans and receivables: which comprise non-derivative financial assets with fixed or determinable payments that are not quoted in an active market, and excludes assets which the entity intends to sell immediately or in the near term or those which the entity upon initial recognition designates as at fair value through profit or loss or as available-for-sale financial assets.

- III. Available-for-sale: which comprise non-derivative financial assets that are designated as available-for-sale financial assets, and not classified under any of the other categories of financial assets.
- IV. Financial liabilities: which comprise all financial liabilities except financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss.

Financial assets

All financial assets are recognised initially using the trade date accounting which is the date the company subsequently, held-to-maturity investments and loans and receivables are carried at amortised cost using the Amortised cost is the amount at which the financial asset or liability is measured on initial recognition minus principal repayments, plus or minus the cumulative amortisation using the effective interest method of any difference between the initial amount and the maturity amount, and minus any reduction for impairment or uncollectibility. Fair value is the amount for which an asset can be exchanged, or a liability settled, between knowledgeable willing parties in an arm's length transaction. The fair value for quoted shares is determined using the quoted bid price at the balance sheet date while that of non-quoted shares is determined using valuation techniques. Investment in equity shares classified as available-for-sale assets for which there is no active market and whose fair value cannot be reliably measured are carried at cost.

The company assesses at each balance sheet whether there is objective evidence that a financial asset is impaired. If any such evidence exists, an impairment loss is recognised. Impairment loss is the amount by which the carrying amount of an asset exceeds its recoverable amount. In the case of held-to-maturity investments and loans and receivables, the recoverable amount is the present value of the expected future cash flows, discounted using the asset's effective interest rate.

Changes in fair value of financial assets at fair value through profit or loss are recognised in the income statement.

Changes in fair value for available-for-sale financial assets are recognised in the income statement. In the year of sale, the cumulative gain or loss recognised in the income statement. Trade and other receivables not collectible are written off against the related provision. Subsequent recoveries of amounts previously written off are credited to the income statement in the year of recovery.

All financial assets are classified as non-current except financial assets at fair value through profit or loss, those with maturities of less than 12 months from the balance sheet date, those which the directors have the express intention of holding for less than 12 months from the balance sheet date or those that are required to be sold to raise operating capital, in which case they are classified as current assets.

Financial assets are derecognised when the rights to receive cash flows from the investments have expired or the company has transferred substantially all risks and rewards of ownership.

Financial assets held during the year were classified as follows:

- Demand and term deposits with banking institutions and trade and other receivables were classified as 'loans and receivables'.
- Government securities were classified as 'held-to-maturity investments'.
- Investments in quoted and non-quoted shares were classified as available-for-sale financial assets.

Financial liabilities

All financial liabilities are recognised initially at fair value of the consideration given plus the transaction cost with the exception of financial liabilities carried at fair value through profit or loss, which are initially recognised at fair value and the transaction costs are expensed in the income statement.

All financial liabilities are classified as non-current except financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss, those expected to be settled in the company's normal operating cycle, those payable or expected to be paid within 12 months of the balance sheet date and those which the company does not have an unconditional right to defer settlement for at least 12 months after the balance sheet date.

Financial liabilities are derecognised only when the obligation specified in the contract is discharged or cancelled or expires.

FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

Borrowings and trade and other liabilities are classified as financial liabilities by the directors and are carried at amortised cost.

PROVISIONS FOR LIABILITIES AND CHARGES

Provisions are recognised when the company has a present legal or constructive obligation as a result of past events, it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation, and a reliable estimate of the amount of the obligation can be made.

CASH AND CASH EQUIVALENTS

Cash and cash equivalents include cash in hand and demand and term deposits, with maturities of three months or less from the date of acquisition, that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value, net of bank overdrafts. In the balance sheet, bank overdrafts are included as borrowings under current liabilities.

COMPARATIVES

Where necessary, comparative figures have adjusted to conform to changes in presentation in the current year.

CAPITAL AND RISK MANAGEMENT OBJECTIVES AND POLICIES

Financial risk management

The company's activities expose it to a variety of financial risks including credit, liquidity and market risks. The company's overall risk management policies are set out by the board and implemented by the management, and focus on the unpredictability of changes in the business environment and seek to minimise the potential adverse effects of such risks on the company's performance by setting acceptable levels of risk. The company does not hedge against any risks.

Credit risk

Credit risk is the risk that one party to a financial instrument will cause a financial loss for the other party by failing to discharge an obligation. Credit risk mainly arises from financial assets, and is managed on a company- wide basis. The company does not grade the credit quality of financial assets that are neither past due nor impaired.

Credit risk on financial assets with banking institutions is managed by dealing with institutions with good credit ratings and placing limits on deposits that can be held with each institution.

Credit risk on trade receivables is managed by ensuring that credit is extended to customers with an established credit history. The credit history is determined by taking into account the financial position, past experience and other relevant factors. Credit is managed by setting the credit limit and the credit period for each customer. The utilisation of the credit limits and the credit period is monitored by management on a monthly basis.

The maximum exposure of the company to credit risk as at the balance sheet date is as follows:

Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the company will encounter difficulty in meeting obligations associated with financial liabilities. The board has developed a risk management framework for the management of the company's short, medium and long-term liquidity requirements thereby ensuring that all financial liabilities are settled as they fall due. The company manages liquidity risk by continuously reviewing forecasts and actual cash flows, and maintaining banking facilities to cover any shortfalls.

The table below summarises the maturity analysis for financial liabilities to their remaining contractual maturities. The amounts disclosed are the contractual undiscounted cash flows.

Market risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of financial instruments will fluctuate because of changes in market price and comprises three types of risks: currency risk, interest rate risk and other price risk.

- Interest rate risk

The company is exposed to cash flow interest risk on its variable rate borrowings because of changes in market interest rates. The company manages this exposure by maintaining a high interest cover ratio, which is the extent to which profits are available to service borrowing costs.

- Currency risk

Currency risk arises on financial instruments that are denominated in foreign currency. The company has trade receivables, trade payables and borrowings which are denominated in foreign currency.

Capital management

The company's objective in managing its capital is to ensure that it supports the development of its business and is able to continue as a going concern, while at the same time maximising the return to its shareholders. The company is not subject to any external capital requirements.

The company manages its capital by evaluating the working capital requirements and investment in non-current assets before borrowings and based on this requirement, setting an internal debt to equity ratio, which it monitors on a regular basis. There has not been any change in this since the last financial year.
